Lilian Sukis

Lilian Sukis received her diploma in piano performance from the Royal Conservatory of Music and studied voice with Irene Jessner at the Faculty of Music, graduating in 1965 as the winner of the Eaton Award. In 1969 she was engaged by the Bavarian State Opera in Munich. The breakthrough to international stardom came in 1972 when she sang in the world premiere of the opera Sim Tjong, composed by the Korean Isang Yun for the opening of the Munich Opera Festival on the occasion of the Munich Olympic Games. While continuing under contract with the Bavarian State Opera, Sukis has made guest appearances with major opera companies throughout Europe and North America, pursuing at the same time a brilliant career as a singer of oratorio and lieder.

Derek Bampton

Derek Bampton received his professional music education in Vienna and Salzburg. He was a scholarship student of Wilhelm Kempff. He has recorded for Radio Vienna, Salzburg, Portugal and for CBC radio and television. Mr. Bampton has appeared as soloist with the Mozarteum Orchestra, the Vancouver Symphony and the CBC Montreal Symphony.
